

Edale Parish Statement (draft)

The settlement of Edale is located approximately 3 miles northwest of Castleton and Hope within the Vale of Edale. The village is part of a wider Conservation Area covering the Vale of Edale (designated 1999). Evidence of settlements here date back to the Bronze Age. Whilst farming was, and still is, an important land use in the area, the village is a tourist destination for walkers and is well equipped with facilities including: a train station; visitors' centre; two pubs; two cafes; a village store with occasional Post Office facility; and a variety of accommodation.

Edale is made up of 5 booths, and a more recent settlement at the site of the old Mill. Grindsbrook Booth is the location for the Primary School, village store, cafes and public houses. The YHA is located in Nether Booth.

The Edale community are served by a C of E Church in Grindsbrook Booth and a Methodist Chapel in Barber Booth.

Edale is located within the upper valley pastures of the Dark Peak as described within the Peak District Landscape Characteristic Assessment (LSAP 2009).

Edale Parish Statement (draft)

Edale is a beautiful place much-loved by local people and visitors. There is a strong sense of community and willingness to participate in village life. However, there are concerns that there is insufficient supported infrastructure for the number of weekend visitors by car. This can cause issues for locals and tourists alike.

There is also concern around the number of events which use Edale. Many of the organisers do not consult local people or the Parish Council, who could potentially assist with the smooth running and ensure no overlap with other arranged events.

Community Aspirations

Continue to have a thriving, supportive community with a mixture of ages, occupations and so on. Ensure that there is a good balance between the needs of visitors and those of local people. Enhance the natural environment within and around Edale including, for example, the Vale of Edale and iconic places such as the Great Ridge and Kinder Scout.
